Availability, realistic expectations and the most effective way of looking after everyone.

We now live in a very immediate world where we are used to instant response and 24/7 availability. In parish life with the exception of emergencies when someone is dying and requires the sacrament of the sick this is not the most effective way to sort things out properly and look after everyone. We are looking at better ways of communication to help with this. Issues include emails regarding times they are sent and unrealistic expectations on response time and the same with phone calls. A major issue is around the back of church before and after mass at the weekend and during the week. People often think it is an appropriate time to discuss all sorts of issues and expect an immediate response. This is not the best way. It is far more effective to contact the office or myself via email or phone and if needs be I can arrange an appointment with you. We are looking at setting up an information point to help visitors and manage the different situations at the end of mass. With everyone's help we can start to make things the best they can be for everyone. God bless, Fr Chris
